Cunard Liner Also Brought
$6,250,000 in Gold and
Heavy Mail.

QUOTA BARS DANCER

Ivy Shilling of Australia, Under Contract, Detained by Officials.

The Cunard liner Aquila, carrying 1,698 passengers, a heavy mail shipment and $6,250,000 in gold, arrived here from Southampton and Cherbourg late yesterday afternoon, carrying a number of prominent persons returning from vacation and business trips abroad. The Aquila, under the command of Captain J. G. Thorneycroft, was the first of the Cunard line to arrive here since the outbreak of the war. The ship was met by a large number of officials and a band of music. The passengers were taken to the hotel and the mail was distributed. The gold was taken to the treasury. The ship will leave for New York tomorrow morning.

The gold shipment, one of the largest which has arrived here in some time, consisted of some 125 boxes of bullion. The boxes were packed in iron safes and were guarded by a detachment of the New York City police. The boxes were taken to the treasury and the gold was counted. The ship will leave for New York tomorrow morning.

Traveling in Germany is not nearly as nice as some people think, according to Miss Amelia L. Graff of 371 Central Park West, who told the reporters of her trip through that country and of the efforts made by the German shopkeepers, trainmen and hotel proprietors to make the trip as pleasant as possible. She said that she had been in Germany for three weeks and had seen a great deal of the country. She said that the German people were very friendly and that the trip was very interesting.

HAMMONTON, N. J., Aug. 18.—Tom Delker and Lew Conley, promoters of the Lover's Cooperative Union and its Cupid's Court, issued a statement today to the 1,000 women and 1,200 men who have asked for husbands and wives. And this statement assures the lone ones that "as long as they have health and strength" Tom and Lew intend standing by and doing their best to find a wife for every man and a husband for every woman. Tom says that despite a certain Philadelphia editor's jealousy of him (Tom being the proprietor of a rival sheet, the South Jersey Star) he and Lew will continue right in the face of the Philadelphia newspaper's attacks. The two love promoters say that they will get a capable jury together and continue to bring in new couples until there are no more to mate. Where the next meeting of the revived court will be held is not known. Tom says that despite the fact that he believes in publicity, being a newspaper man himself, he may ask reporters hereafter because those who attended the court in the Palace Theater here failed to take it seriously. "I've spent the last 24 hours day for five weeks on this job," said Tom today. "Also I've spent $100 of my own money for stamps and the like. I'll spend $500 more rather than quit on these poor, loveless souls who are looking to Lew and me for happiness. We will match up at least 100 couples a week until we've cleaned up the batch." Tom admits that he has collected about $500 from various newspapers for advance stories of his Cupid's Court project.

This is his second marriage. He and his first wife, who also was an actress, were divorced in Oklahoma, Cal., in July, 1919. Reports of a reconciliation have been circulated frequently, but nothing came of them.

1914, when they presented him at the Winter Garden in "Dancing Around." Other productions in which he has starred are "Robinson Crusoe, Jr.," produced May, 1918; "Sinbad," produced November 11, 1918, and last season, "Bombo."

Subsequent to his debut at the Winter Garden he was seen in several other productions at this theater, appearing in "The American Stage," "The Honeymoon Express" in support of Gaby Deslys. He became a star under the direction of the Shuberts October 10, 1914.

BACK AFTER 5 YEARS

250 Bring Newly Acquired
Wives Over on the Latvia.

Seven hundred of the repatriated members of the Polish Foreign Legion, which was recruited by former Premier Ignace Jan Paderewski for service during the winter of 1917-18, arrived yesterday aboard the Baltic-American liner Latvia which docked late Thursday night. Two hundred and fifty of the men were married and had children, having married while abroad.

The men were in charge of Mieczyslaw Marchewski of Danzig and were greeted at the pier at the foot of Forty-third street, Brooklyn, by Edward J. Wilkowsky, president of the former New York Polish Citizens' Committee which had charge of sending the troops abroad six years ago.

The majority of those who arrived saw service first with the French armies and at the conclusion of the war were transferred into the Polish armies, where they fought for many months along all fronts as members of the Kolchak forces. Many of the men were the faded sky-blue uniforms of the French army when they landed yesterday and others were clad in a conglomeration of uniform, some part Russian, German and other salvaged garments. Most of the men were several decorations for valor, which included French, Belgian and Polish orders.
